

NCThinks Program Administration 2017 Annual Report

PROGRAM SUMMARY

Background

NCThinks was created in 1975 as the suggestion system for state employees. Formerly known as the State Employees Incentive Bonus Program, it was created to be administered by the Office of State Human Resources (OSHR) as a meritorious service award program that provides for equitable compensation and/or recognition to state employees who develop and submit valid suggestions that are used by the state. The program was intended to be a decentralized state program with immediate program responsibility vested with the individual agencies. The program and awards were meant to be funded from savings generated by the suggestions. However, the program has not been effective in recent years due to a lack of participation and funding.

Current Status

The lack of savings generated from NCThinks submissions resulted in the elimination of the NCThinks Administrator position in 2015. OSHR is exploring ways to redesign this program to make it viable. The program website has been removed until funding is allocated or the program is restructured.
