ANTHONY READER Department of Administration, Motor Fleet Management

Anthony Reader serves as the administrative lead for the Department of Administration's Division of Motor Fleet Management. When he first started working for the state, Reader was an offender on work release. He began as an entry-level lot team member, working outdoors in all conditions to where he prepared vehicles for assignment and processed old ones for surplus.

Reader cared deeply about the quality of his work and actively made suggestions on ways to improve the vehicle processing system. His attention to detail and ability to consistently exceed expectations earned Reader a full-time position at the end of his work release. He was later promoted to lot supervisor, where he now oversees the team that receives and surpluses all Motor Fleet Management vehicles.

In his free time, Reader can be found volunteering in his community and connecting with at-risk youth. He is a volunteer with My Brother's Second Chance, a nonprofit organization that uses mentorship to educate and empower at-risk youth in Winston-Salem to help them achieve their full potential. Reader emphasizes the importance of making good decisions and being strategic with the people they choose to surround themselves with. His candor about his life experiences allows him to both help the next generation make better decisions and make the most of his own second chance at a better life.

When at work and in his personal time, Anthony Reader dedicates himself to public service. His diligence and commitment to the citizens of North Carolina make him a role model to those he mentors and an outstanding employee for the Department of Administration and the State of North Carolina.
