

Class Concept

This is consultative and administrative work in the promotion, coordination, and directing of extension education and training programs in various state agencies. Positions in this class develop, conduct, and promote specific extension education and training courses and/or multiple courses within occupational areas such as fire science, waste water systems, marine/fisheries, hospitality services, driver/safety education, and law enforcement. Courses and/or occupational areas have varying degrees of content, duration, and statutory requirements. Work requires considerable contact with state, local, and federal agencies and possibly with administrative and management personnel of business and industry in determining training needs, developing projects for federal funding, and in coordinating the training programs with various directors of extension education in the community college system. Positions conduct and promote courses with more limited scope, duration, and content variation and report to an Extension Education and Training Specialist II.
