CLINICAL CHAPLAIN II

DESCRIPTION OF WORK

Work in this class involves performing administrative and advanced pastoral care services for mentally and physically ill, confined, and emotionally disturbed individuals. Employees plan, organize, and develop the pastoral care program for a major state institution or comprehensive community program or serve as the chief assistant to a Chaplain III in a recognized training program for clinical chaplains. Work is performed independently and requires the exercise of initiative and discretion in using the resources of religion in meeting spiritual, emotional and social needs of institutionalized persons. Work is evaluated through periodic conferences and written reports by a higher level chaplain or institution director and is reviewed to determine the achievement of objectives and adherence to established policies and procedures.
